

Our new website

Dear ADSA members

We are proud to announce that the new-look ADSA website has gone live! Please take the time to visit the site regularly as it is updated weekly with the new job opportunities, ADSA and CPD events. You can access it via the old web address or via www.adsa.org.za. The new URL is free of charge to ADSA and fits in with the marketing campaign initiated during the 2004 - 2006 executive term of office. Research has also shown that .org websites are considered more credible with the public, hence the decision to change.

We trust you'll make good use of the website and that you'll find it user friendly. Please e-mail us (info@adsa.org.za) with any feedback or ideas that we can incorporate – this is your website!

Kind regards

Hilary Woodley

ADSA Executive Communications Portfolio

What you can find under the following headings on the new site:

Home Page – www.adsa.org.za

A brief overview on ADSA as well as a special section, Find a Dietitian, which links you up to the PPD directory

About ADSA

This section of the site includes ADSA's:

- Vision & mission
- Constitution
- Membership profile
- Information on the Executive Committee members and the work they doing in their portfolios
- A list of ADSA representatives in other organisations
- A link to the International Confederation of Dietetic Associations (ICDA) to which ADSA belongs
- ADSA membership forms
- ADSA gold and silver sponsors

About Dietitians

This contains information on dietetics from an education and career perspective as well as frequently asked questions (FAQs)

Events

Official ADSA events and related CPD events that the national office is notified of are advertised here. They are divided into:

- ADSA branch events
- Congresses
- Other CPD events
- Past events

Branches

This section is for each branch to use to communicate with you. It includes information on:

- Who is on the branch committee
- Branch newsletters
- Branch notices
- Branch minutes, agendas and documentation

Professional development

The history and most up to date information on:

- CPD programme
- CPD documents
- CPD accreditation office details

A link to the HPCSA and their policy documents can be found here

Media Centre

All interesting news and information relevant to ADSA members is available here under:

- ADSA awards
- ADSA monthly newsletter
- Articles and pamphlets
- Link to the SAJCN
- Links to very useful websites
- Library for position papers

Membership

My membership – this includes a section for you to update your membership details instantly, view your statement and find other members. It also includes:

- Member types and benefits
- Employment opportunities
- Information on the Council for Medical Schemes
- And a form for you to submit job advertisements or notices to ADSA members

Contact us

The national office details